BETHLEHEM, PENNSYLVANIA

THE FOUNDATION OF OUR FUTURE

"Work fascinates us," agree Elizabeth O'Donnell and Eva Madl as they watch a mechanic adjust his equipment outside of school on opening day in September.

Mr. Tony Sciarra, Becahi's faithful custodian, inspects the plastering being done in the basement as part of the program to make the school fire-resistant.

Bethlehem's flood control activities deprived seniors of privileged front-door dismissal during September and October.

Students learn a new use for polyethylene by observing workers covering walls prior to plastering.

Worker demonstrates skill necessary to get plaster on correctly to Barry Casey and Charles Terry.

Mary Kerecz and Georgene Danko pity the hod carrier, working under the blazing September sun.

MEMORIAL TO Cardinal O'Hara

Together with the members of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia, students of Bethlehem Catholic High School mourned the loss of their beloved shepherd, Cardinal O'Hara, just before the opening of the current school year. In addition, because of his association with Notre Dame University for thirty years, as well as his duties in the United States Military Ordinariate, the death of this great prelate caused grief to many throughout the nation. In secular and religious newspapers appeared sincere eulogies of Cardinal O'Hara with the mention of his many praiseworthy achievements. High among these was what he accomplished for the education of youth through his interest and indefatigable zeal. For this he will long be remembered by all who benefited substantially from the new buildings and equipment supplied for education, but more important, from the advice and guidance of this great spiritual leader. Among his many noteworthy statements two will be remembered for their inspiration:

"If it is a work of God, He will find the way of providing for us the necessary means."

"We have no problems, only opportunities."

HIS EMINENCE,
JOHN CARDINAL O'HARA, C.S.C., D.D.
May 1, 1888 — August 28, 1960
Requiescat in pace!

HIS EXCELLENCY
THE MOST REVEREND
JOSEPH M. McSHEA, D.D.
BISHOP OF ALLENTOWN

On February 15, 1961 Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, Apostolic Delegate in the United States, announced the division of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia, naming as the Allentown Diocese the counties of Berks, Carbon, Lehigh, Northampton, and Schuylkill. At the same time His Excellency named Most Reverend John J. Krol, Auxiliary Bishop of Cleveland as the new Ordinary of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia which will now consist of the city and county of Philadelphia and the counties of Bucks, Chester, Delaware, and Montgomery.

BISHOP OF ALLENTOWN

No stranger to the students of Bethlehem Catholic High School, many of whom he confirmed, Bishop Joseph M. McShea receives sincere congratulations from the faculty and students on his appointment as first Bishop of the Allentown Diocese.

Born in Lattimer, Pennsylvania, Bishop McShea moved with his family to Philadelphia where he received his early education and entered St. Charles Seminary in 1923. Three years later he was sent to the Roman Pontifical Seminary from which he received a Doctorate of Philosophy and a Doctorate of Sacred Theology. After ordination to the priesthood in Rome on December 6, 1931, Bishop McShea returned to St. Charles Seminary where he taught for three years. He returned to Rome in 1935 and served at the Vatican until his appointment as secretary to the Apostolic Delegate in Washington. On February 9, 1952, Bishop McShea was named Titular Bishop of Mina and Auxiliary Bishop of Philadelphia, and he was consecrated on March 19, 1952.

Since the death of Cardinal O'Hara on August 28, 1960, Bishop McShea has served the Archdiocese as Administrator. To the first Bishop of Allentown his flock extends prayers and good wishes.

AD MULTOS ANNOS!

As Auxiliary Bishop of Philadelphia, Bishop McShea administered Confirmation in Holy Rosary Church, Bethlehem, one of the one hundred fifty parishes now under his care as Bishop of Allentown.

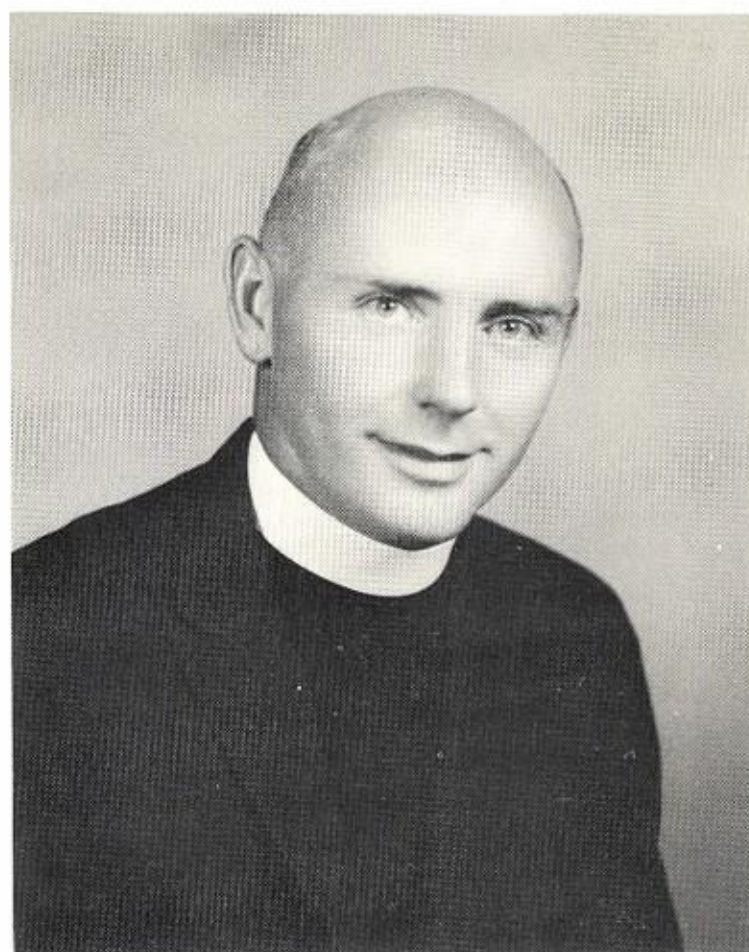

ARCHITECTS AND ENGINEERS

PRINCIPAL

One of the many problems met with during the early weeks of the 1960-61 school year was traffic; students were not permitted to use Fourth Street on account of the City of Bethlehem's flood control activities. Father Sangmeister discusses the best method of dismissing students with Father Nawn, Mr. Saroka, and Father Cronin.

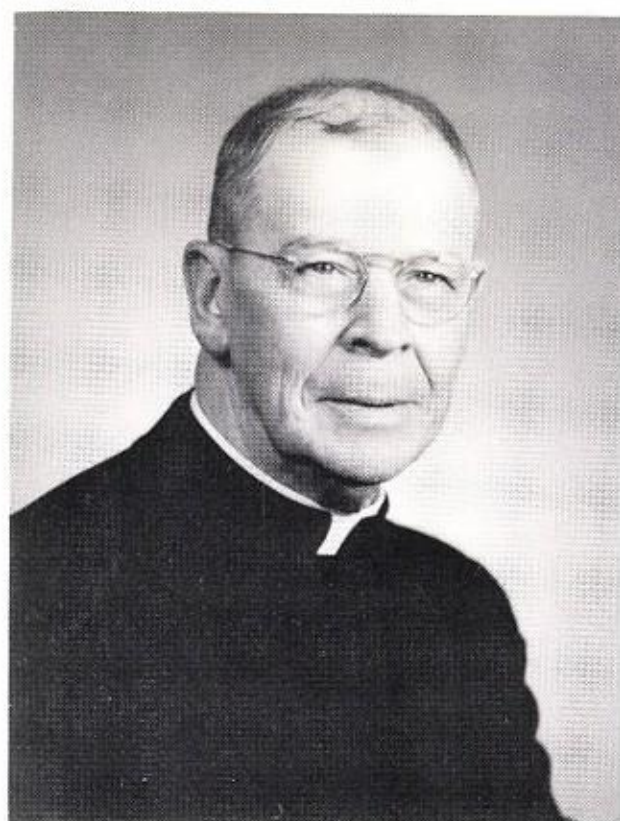

THE REVEREND
JOSEPH V. SANGMEISTER, J.C.D., LL.D.
Principal

Boys and girls who spend their high school years in the "little school by the railroad tracks" learn to appreciate their principal, Father Joseph V. Sangmeister. Each student of Becahi receives an individual consideration from Father. He interests himself in a special way in the scholastic achievement of each; he merits the trust of those who confide in him; he holds a high place in the esteem of the alumni who often return for advice and counsel. And most of all, the Graduates of 1961, who will soon be leaving their dearly beloved school, have fostered and developed a friendship with their Principal, which will remain with them forever with the wonderful memories of Bethlehem Catholic High School.

THE REVEREND DANIEL B. POWELL, D.D.
Rector of Holy Infancy Parish

Reverend Remigio Roldan worked among the Spanish-speaking people of Bethlehem for thirty-one years. His death in September, 1960, grieved students of Bethlehem Catholic High School who revered him for his spiritual interest in them, as well as his enthusiastic support of school activities and entertainments. May he rest in peace!

Holy Infancy Church and its kindly and paternal rector, Doctor Powell, will always be remembered by every boy and girl who attends Bethlehem Catholic High School. Each Wednesday the student body assists at Holy Mass, and frequent opportunities of receiving the sacraments of Penance and Holy Eucharist are presented to them. Baccalaureate Mass in June, the final spiritual class assembly, will be celebrated in Holy Infancy Church.

Our Hearts Were Young

Otis Skinner (Joseph DeFulvio):
"Lady, come away from this nest of death, contagion, and unnatural sleep."
Mr. Skinner "hams" Romeo and Juliet for the amusement of Cornelia and Emily.

"I see. Well—that is all . . ." In an effort to conceal the fact that Cornelia has the measles, her friends try to convince the Medical Inspector that all is well. Winifred Blough (Jean Rodgers), Harriet St. John (Marie Vogel),
Cornelia (Angeline Albarelli), Leo
McEvoy (Dennis Votral), Dick Winters (Jere Casey), Admiral (Fred Bambu), Inspector (David Korpics), and Emily (Marion Fisher).

"Les jeune filles! Les fetes! laughs Therese (Marie Toth), the maid, as she explains to Madame Elise (Sandra Majczan) that what had frightened Emily and Cornelia were noises of Bastille Day celebration, not a gas meter explosion.

Emily (Nancy DiConcetto) practices a few ballet steps to attract Monsieur De La Croix's (Francis Zambo) attention while Cornelia (Geraldine Jancosko) dramatically recites: "Oh, bid me leap, rather than marry Paris, from off the battlements of yonder tower . . ."

"Bonjour, mademoiselles! I am the man who wakes up the late sleepers. Also, I clean the windows." Richard Foley good-naturedly rouses Emily and Cornelia and nonchalantly goes about his work.

"Please, If the mademoiselles will not throw things out of the windows! I have to support a large family. If I am injured, they will starve," protests the injured window cleaner. (Leo Lynch)

"Ah! These Americans! All crazy!" exclaims Madame Elise (Lorraine Stofko). Mrs. Skinner (Carol Alcorn) insists that it is perfectly all right to find bedbugs in "Cardinal Richelieu's bed." Thérèse (Anna Marie Lapausky) holds the door for her mother.

Purser (Richard Chaffier) scolds Steward (John Uhl) for bringing so many of Emily's and Cornelia's trunks into their cabin. Stewardess (Virginia Sobota) confirms the steward's explanation that he has been asked to bring ALL of them.

On November nineteenth and twentieth seniors presented OUR HEARTS WERE YOUNG AND GAY, dramatized by Jean Kerr from the book of the same name by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough. Based on actual incidents, the adventures of the authors as "emancipated" young ladies on shipboard and in Paris amused the audience and filled the auditorium with gay and merry laughter, especially Mrs. Skinner's gift of "safety pockets" . . . "Man overboard!" . . . Emily's concern about life preservers . . . Cornelia's measles . . . Medical Inspector . . . Happy Bastille Day . . . "Cardinal Richelieu's bed" . . . Monsieur de la Croix. Following the custom of Bethlehem Catholic High School a double cast portrayed the characters.

"Bedbugs aweigh, my lads, bedbugs aweigh!" loudly sings Mr. Skinner (George Yellak) as Mrs. Skinner (Kathleen Gombosi) hands him disinfectant to scrub away the bedbugs from "Cardinal Richelieu's bed." Emily (Marian Fisher) curiously watches the procedure.

Harriet (Carol Danko), Winifred (Susan Horvath), the Stewardess (Madeline Gallagher), Emily (Nancy DiConcetto), Cornelia (Geraldine Jancosko), Dick (Robert Kropp), Leo (Paul Pavelko), Purser (Charles Terry), the Steward (Edward Angerman), and Admiral (Michael Chaback) in the hilarious "safety pocket" scene.

Students of Bethlehem Catholic reverently portray the Nativity Scene in a colorful tableau with freshman girls singing Christmas hymns; Leo Lynch as St. Joseph; Theresa Nishnic as our Blessed Mother; Ann Cooke and Nancy Hepp as angels; James Tulio, Jere Casey, and Alfred Ortwein as the Magi; and Orlando Diaz and Barry Casey as Shepherds.

GLEE CLUB

Charles Terry, president of the Glee Club, conducted a double quartet of his own arrangement of traditional Christmas songs. John Uhl, Joseph DeFulvio, Fred Bambu, Paul Pavelko, Nancy DiConcetto, Sandra Majczan, Marie Vogel, and Susan Horvath. Patricia Bartakovits accompanied the group.

At intermission time during performances of the senior play, members of the Glee Club entertained the audience with the singing of "Me and My Shadow," "Anchors Aweigh," and "Over the Rainbow."

Intermission at the "Starlight Cotillion" finds students admiring the State Championship trophy won by the 1960 Becahi Golden Hawks. This great victory provided the main theme for the Senior-Junior Prom, held June 3, 1960. William Gawlik, Eleanor DeBellis, Agnes Kocsan, Peter Sabo, Peggy Leonard, Mel Nicholas, John DeBellis, Mary Ann Huhn, Thomas Hovancik, Eloise Eberle, George Durako, and Grace Dougherty.

Prominent among the students dancing to the dreamy music of Matt Gillespie's band, as they play "Peter Gunn," are Marie Toth, Richard Chaffier, Dorothy Trescak, and Wallace Narlesky.

Ed Angerman comes down with a rebound, clearing the way for Becahi to score. "Mick" Moroney keeps his Viking opponent at a safe distance.

Defense of the P.C.I.A.A. State Championship challenged Bethlehem Catholic's Golden Hawks throughout a spectacular 1960-61 season. Displaying Coach Calvo's excellent training, the "Champs" triumphed over their first five foes before Northampton beat them. Recovering, Becahi whipped Lansdale Catholic and their next three opponents, but lost to Bethlehem High. The Golden Hawks rallied their defenses and won the next six games, the most cherished triumph being their upset of Allentown Central. First half of season found Bethlehem Catholic holding the title with a 9-0 Suburban League score and an over-all record of 15-2. Bishop Kenrick's Knights gave the defenders their first League loss to open the season's second half. Seven victories and two losses followed, bringing the league score to 15-3 and the seasonal over-all record to 22-5.

As the SCEPTRE goes to press, there remain the play-off games to decide the State Championship. For this record see the SCEPTRE Senior Supplement, published in July.

Jean Reilly (34) rushes to catch ball for a rebound shot.

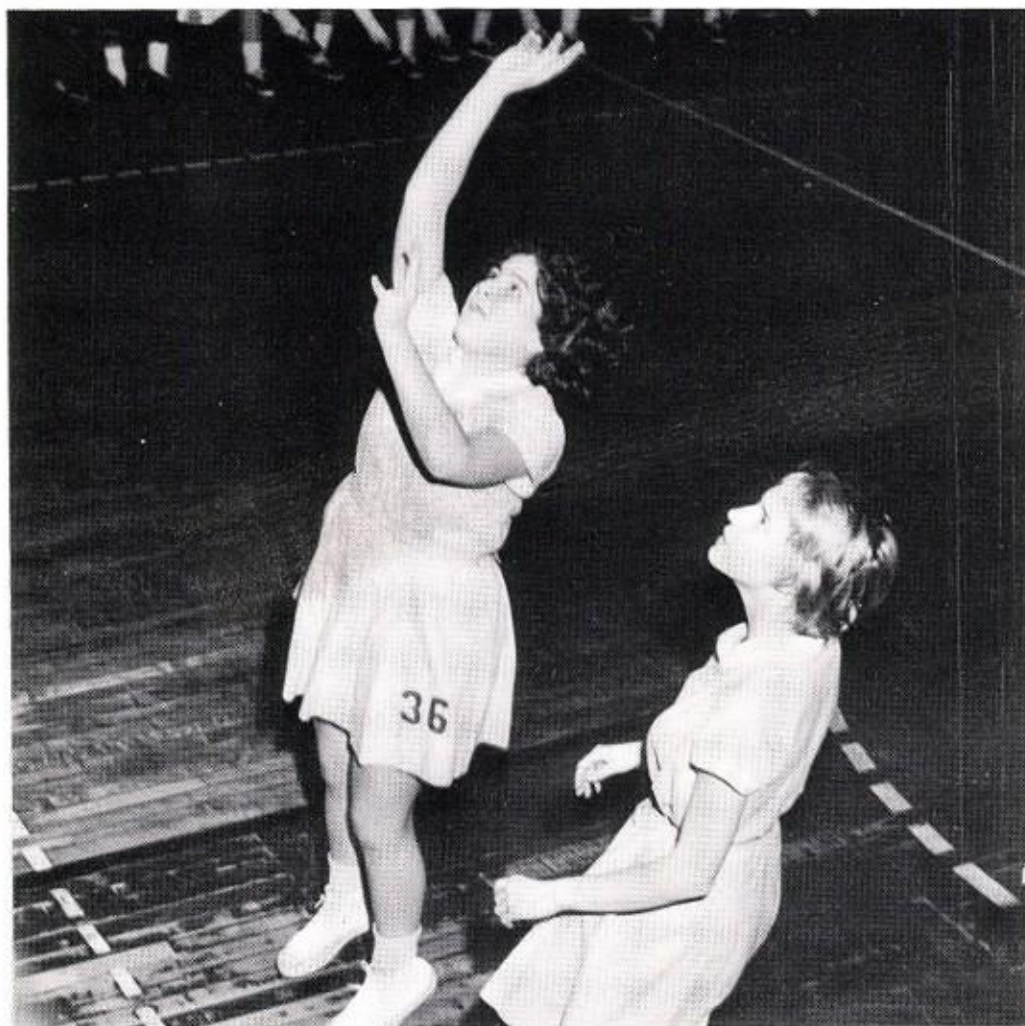

Bethlehem Catholic Hawkettes profit through constant exercise and supervised practice, as they proved during this successful season. With an overwhelming victory over St. Francis Academy, the girls' basketball team opened its league series and continued with determination to win. Under the skilled training of Coach DiMeglio, members of the team gained confidence and finesse. Thrilling the spectators with one point margins, the girls defeated each of their traditional foes, Liberty High School and Notre Dame early in the season. In the return game, however Liberty got its revenge by more than doubling Becahi's score, but Notre Dame bowed again with 29-26. Because of the number of undergraduates on the Varsity Team, the Hawkettes show great promise, and in the future they will demonstrate how well they benefited from their experiences.

The story of PLAIN AND FANCY is more plain than fancy, as it should be. It concerns a young New Yorker and his sophisticated girl friend who drive down into the Amish country to sell a piece of property he has inherited, but has never seen. In this neighborhood of Bird-in-Hand, they find themselves out of their metropolitan world, in a land of quaint customs, stern morals, and "Pennsylvania Dutch" English. They run across a romance or two among the young generation of Amish, and manage to fix things up so that everybody is in love with the right party at the end—which is how any sensible musical should end.

"I am happy! It was such a day!" Katie (Elizabeth O'Donnell) thanks Papa (Charles Terry) for a ride to Lancaster, a special treat before her wedding. Chorus of Amish men and women sing, "It Wonders Me!"

En route from New York Ruth (Nancy DiConcetta) and Dan (Jere Casey) seek directions to get to Bird-in-Hand, Pennsylvania. Man (Francis Zambo) comments: "Boy, you are lost! How'd you get off this road?"

Dan (Dennis Votral) separates the fighting Reber brothers, Peter (George Sefranek) and Ezra (Joseph DeFulvio). Teasing Peter, Ezra had just remarked that his brother was still ("ferhoodled" about Katie Yoder, Ezra's promised bride.

Jacob (John Uhl): "Hilda — you want maybe to go with me later, over by the lake?" To which Hilda (Sandra Oravec) very emphatically replies, "NO!"

Papa Yoder (Charles Terry) leads chorus in "Plain We Live," after pronouncing the terrible "shunning" of Peter (Paul Pavelko) standing in center with bowed head. Katie (Elizabeth O'Donnell) stands between her father and Peter; Dan (Dennis Votral) wonders at this strange Amish punishment, Ezra (Joseph DeFulvio) stands between Peter and Dan.

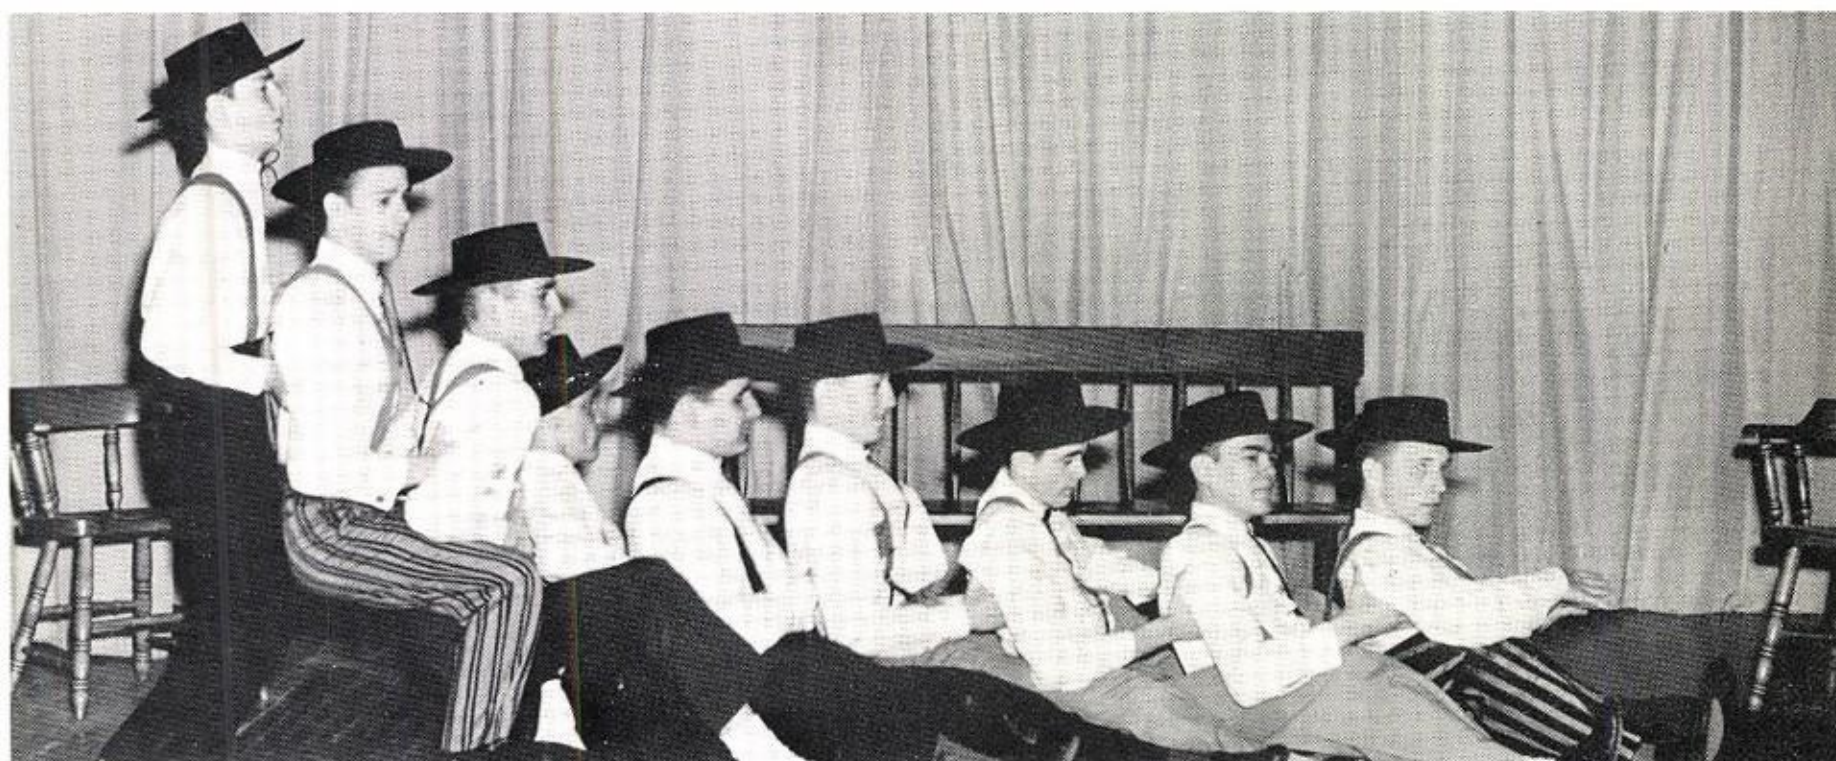

Dan (Dennis Votral): Hello, Mr. Yoder. Where did all these people come from?
Papa (Charles Terry): When we have a barn raising, people come from all over to help.
Dan: You mean they all volunteer to work like this?
Hilda (Geraldine Jancosko): By us a barn means to help and enjoy!
Dan: You'll be at this for weeks —
Papa: Not us, Mr. King! Just wait and see!

Katie (Geraldine Polansky) struggles with her conscience as an Amish girl to shun Peter (Paul Pavelko) as he pleads with her to
*"Follow your heart —
 Whenever it calls to you,
 Whatever it tells you to do.
 The heart has reasons
 The mind cannot know . . ."*

Amish men do a "tricky" finale to their song and dance, "Why Not Katie?" Ronald Herczeg, Michael Higgins, John Matus, Eugene Demyan, Joseph DeFulvio, Richard Foley, Daniel Nolan, John Dougherty, and Robert Casey.

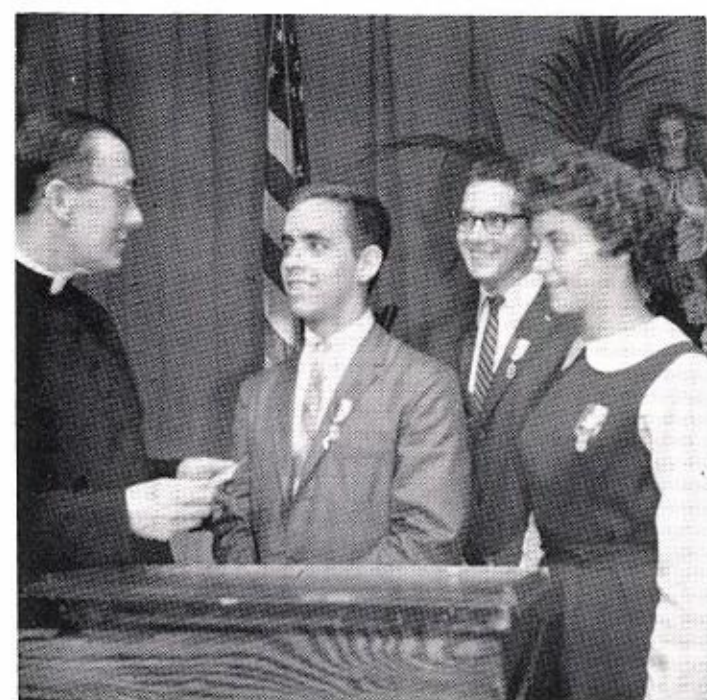

Ruth (Pauline Marshalek) offers to help the Amish women "fix for the wedding!" Among other things she attempts to churn butter and pump water at the same time, achieving a sort of rhumba rhythm.

STUDENT ASSOCIATION

INTELLECTUAL GROWTH

SENIOR CLASSES

With these words, "In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost," each class in Bethlehem Catholic High School begins, no matter what the subject may be.

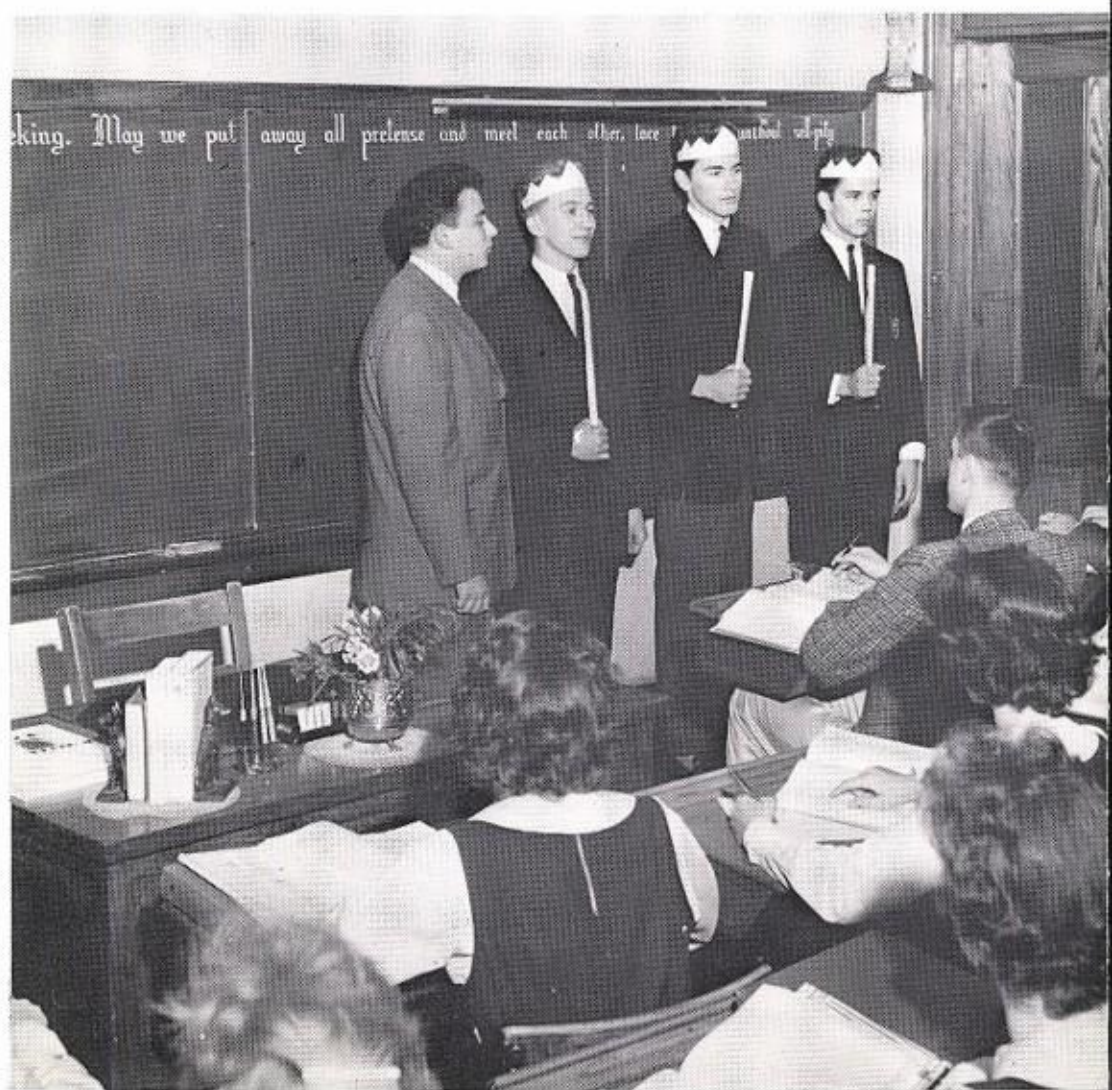

Fourth year students, mindful of Father Sangmeister's oft-repeated challenge, "As the seniors go, so goes the school," acquire poise and dignity as they progress through their last year at Beca. Academic students complete preparation for college with courses in chemistry, French and trigonometry. Students in Secretarial and General Courses, preparing to take their places in the business world, perfect the skills of bookkeeping, stenography, and typing, as well as Business Mathematics and Spanish. Religion, of course, holds the highest place on each senior's scholastic program. All seniors take English and Problems of American Democracy. Each graduate leaves Bethlehem Catholic High School prepared to follow whatever future career he may choose.

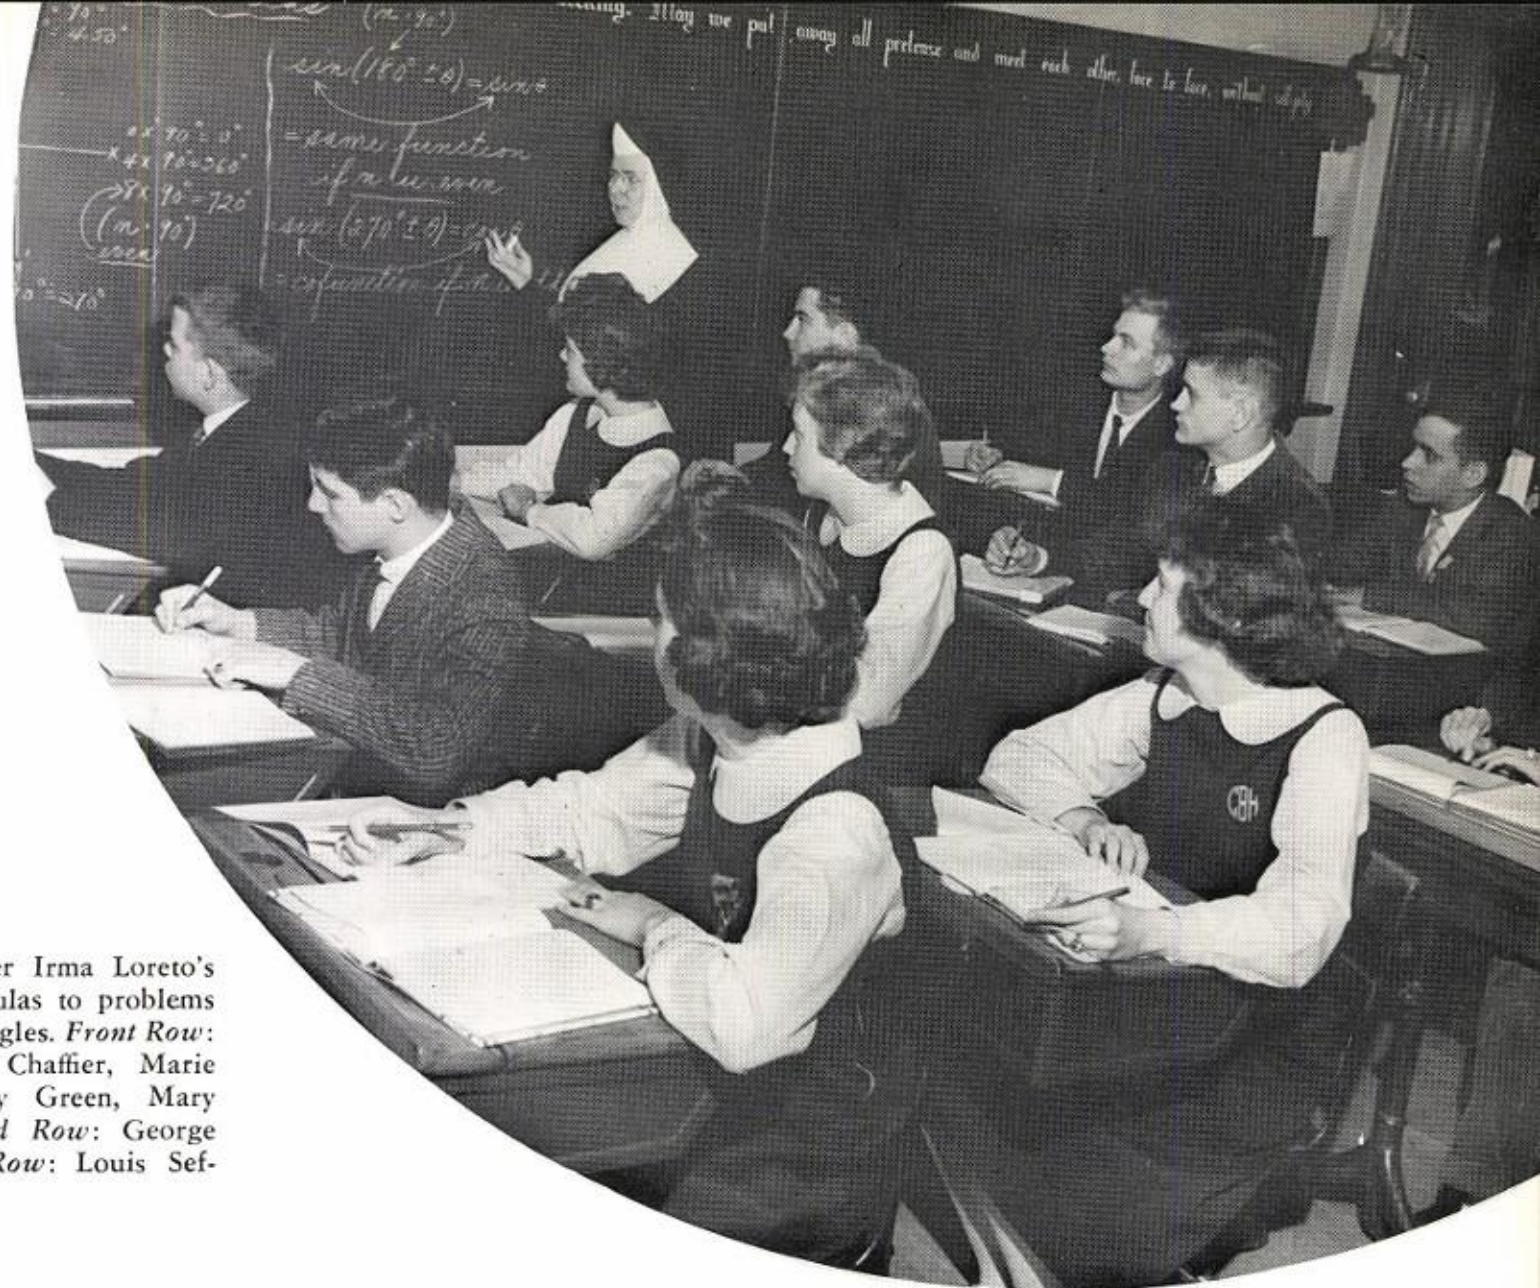

During senior English class James Tulio speaks Macbeth's words:

"Thou art too like the spirit of Banquo; down!
Thy crown doth sear my eyeballs. And thy hair,
Thou other gold-bound brow, is like the first.
A third is like the former . . ."

Act IV, i, 111-114

Alfred Teles (standing) defines an essential term used in bookkeeping. (seated) Raymond Ortwein, Robert Ushafer, James Tulio, and Stephen Ortwein.

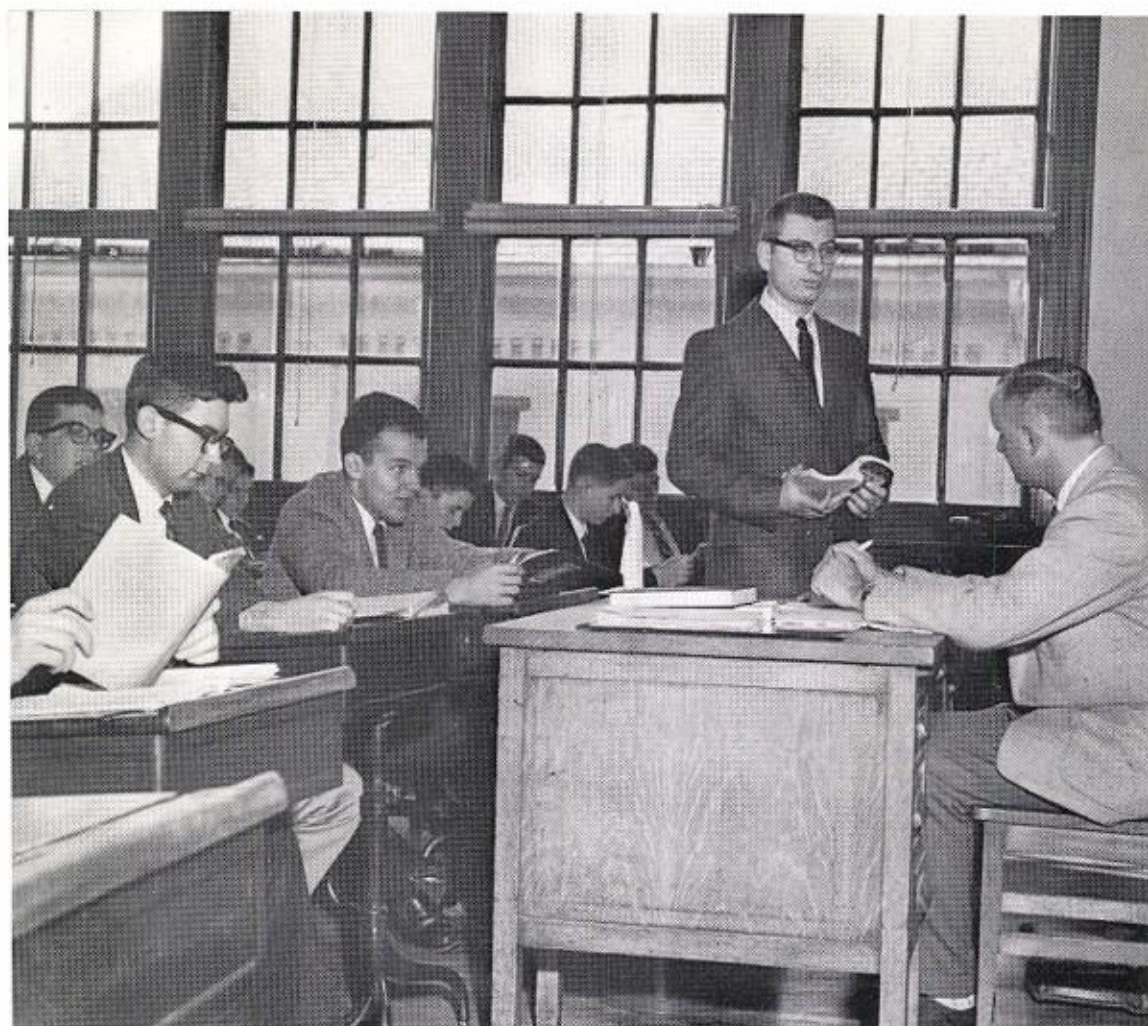

Eleanor DeBellis and Frances Gobs show pleasure at having their Spanish homework marked "Correct" by Sister Cordata.

SENIORS, SEEKING ACHIEVEMENT . . .

Mr. Saroka answers Alfred Ortwein's question on Supreme Courts; seniors in Problems in American Democracy class engage in many stimulating discussions with their teacher.

STRIVE TOWARD COMPLETION OF OBJECTIVE.

Religion class provides ample opportunities for seniors to learn how to express reasons for the faith they have in God and the practice of their holy religion by answering "WHY?" to Father Cronin's complete satisfaction.

Geometric forms hold the interest of solid geometry students. (clockwise) Edward Angerman, John Moroney, Michael Chaback, Joseph Donches, Orlando Diaz, and James Monek.

What Stephen Fistner and Frances Kotash lack in age, they supply with their enthusiasm and interest in the newly elected President of the United States, John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Alert to each of Sister Michael Cecilia's words, seniors in Secretarial Course delight in rapid preview before attempting high-speed dictation.

Classes in the third year provide juniors with opportunities of following the particular course each student chooses, with the guidance and approval of Father Sangmeister, the principal of Bethlehem Catholic. Academic students, hoping to enter college or to begin training as teachers or nurses, pursue the study of Algebra II, French I, and chemistry or physics, given alternate years to all juniors and seniors in the Academic course. Future secretaries and office workers receive training in bookkeeping, stenography, and typing. Classes in English III and Religion III include all juniors.

Barbara Martinuzzi, Judith Grund, John Dougherty, and Robert Casey seek and seek and seek the answers to chemical reactions.

JOURNEYING FORWARD...

"Everybody loves recordings, especially if they are in Spanish!" Barbara Horvath, Barbara Kerecz, and Roberta Lindenmuth follow the story from their texts; Gloria Teles regulates the volume.

Ronald Neimeister asks Sister Louis Bertrand a question about the solution of an equation with three unknowns. Juniors in Algebra II class await the answer.

Junior typists Susan Stauffer, Barbara Bringenberg, and Rose Marie Ripper watch Barbara Fistner use the correct method for changing a typewriter ribbon.

"Fold the paper one-third from the bottom," Jean Reilly tells Louis Albert, as she demonstrates the method learned in Office Practice class.

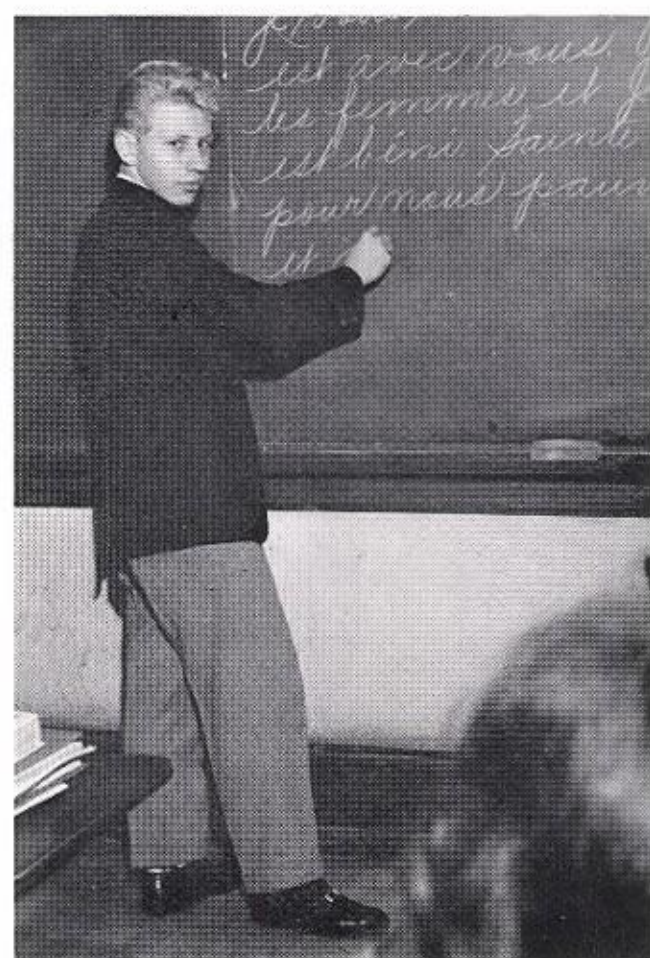

Sister St. Edmund checks English notebooks of juniors: Mary Waldron, Mercedes Spevak, Nancy Kalata, Margaret Hudock, Madeline Stoll, Charlotte Majczan.

CHOOSE SPECIAL FIELDS.

Juniors in Father Nawn's religion class concentrate on important points of doctrine under discussion.

"Mais oui, nous prions en francais," boasts Richard Sokolsky, a junior in Sister Marie Matthew's French class.

Patricia Bartokovits, Donna Dancho, Nancy Bednar, and Marsha Brooks look for those "bundles" in corn stems.

ADVANCE ANOTHER STEP.

Sophomore year introduces two new subjects; namely, biology and plane geometry. Biology students study the life processes and needs that are common in all organisms, as well as the interdependence of plants and animals. Plane geometry develops training in logical thinking and clear, concise expression of facts. Not an entirely new subject, American History deepens students' understanding of the growth of the United States to its present position as a world power. Religion II, English II, and Latin II classes develop knowledge and skills in each of the above subjects for all second year students.

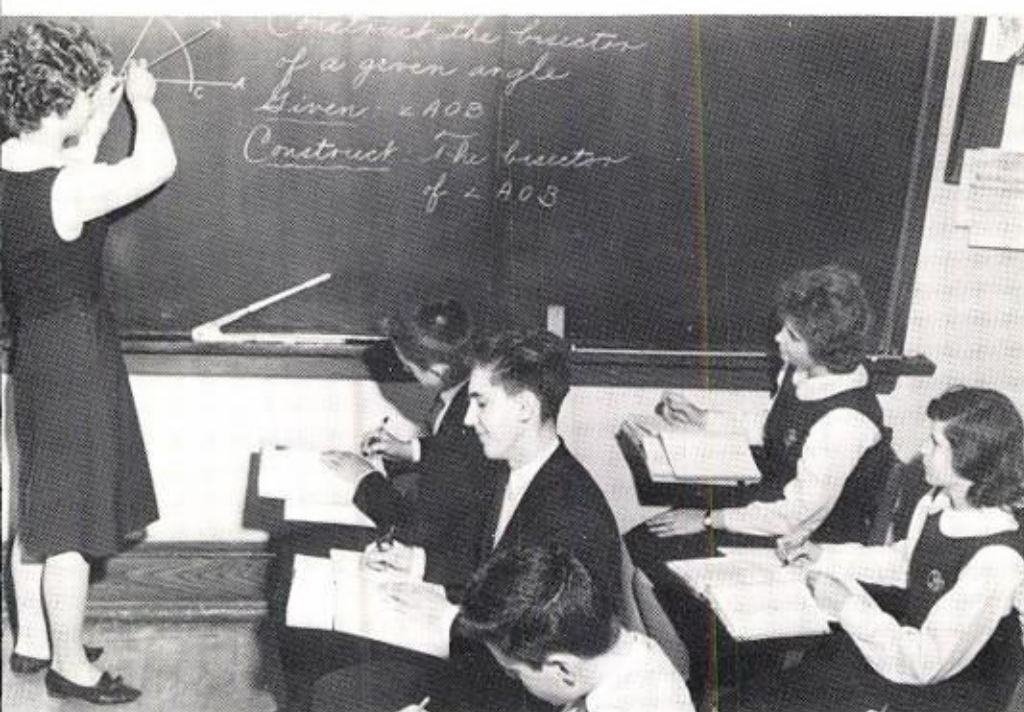

Dolores Dozer enjoys role of teacher in Latin II class. Dolores Molnar and Loretta Arias see nothing difficult in the presentation of the subjunctive mood.

Just after lunch Donald Samley, Ronald Lawrence, and Louis Rippert dissect crayfish for biology class. "Ugh!" says Robert Edwards, looking over Ronald Lawrence's shoulder.

In the sophomore's dramatization of "The Merchant of Venice," Act I, Scene ii, Bassanio (Thomas Cope) bargains with Shylock (Eugene Yellak) for the loan of 3000 ducats. Bystanders on the "Rialto" are: Edward Stine, William Brogan, James LaBuda, and Stephen Donches.

Regina Ganssle gives Mr. Saroka her full attention as he directs a question in American history to her.

Sophomores raise hands to answer Father Nawn's question in religion class.

Father Sangmeister congratulates newly elected freshman class officers: Carol Capuano, Nancy Iampietro, Robert Makosky, Walter Hoderewski, Margaret Fenerty, Timothy Gifford.

Freshmen in Algebra I give serious thought to the solving of a problem in one unknown.

FRESHMEN, EAGER TO LEARN...

Robert Makosky explains the Frasch Process for obtaining sulphur to his classmates. John Toth, Frances Bringenberg, Roy Urello, and Patricia DeLazzario display other metals and processes discussed in the General Science class.

Elizabeth Pinter and Pauline Martucci point out combinations in color harmony to freshmen in art class.

Novel experiences fascinate freshmen beginning high school: six teachers instead of one . . . retreat with Mass and Holy Communion in school . . . study of Life of Christ in religion . . . larger books, longer assignments . . . puzzling problems in Algebra I . . . new techniques in Art I . . . English Literature . . . amazing facts in General Science . . . complexities of Latin . . . lively tunes in Music I . . . dates, facts, and places in World History . . . pep rallies . . . basketball games . . . dances . . . Becahi's inimitable school spirit!

Freshmen display Bibles brought from their homes as part of their observance of Family Bible Reading Week. Much of the religion course in first year is devoted to study of the public life of Our Lord as found in the New Testament. Judith Foley, Anthony Corroda, Francis Seaman, and Gloria Lupini.

Freshman Latinists race to see who will be first to complete declensions of nouns correctly. Richard Parente, Judith Foley, Francis Kantor, and Roseann Cszar.

Kathleen Unger, Joseph Piltman, and Peter Toth display points of interest studied in World History class.

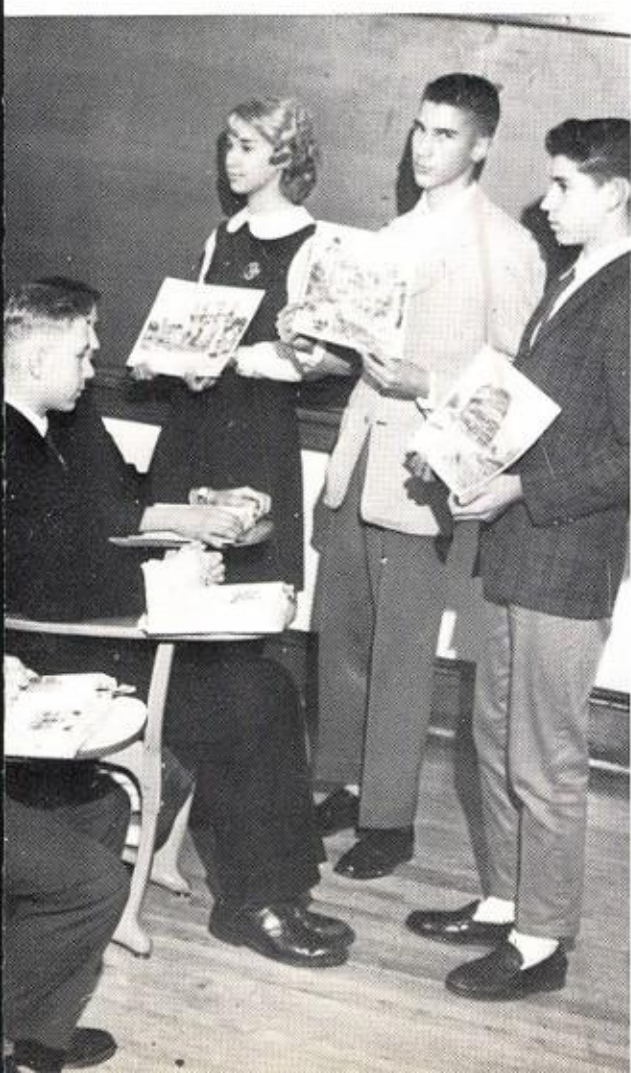

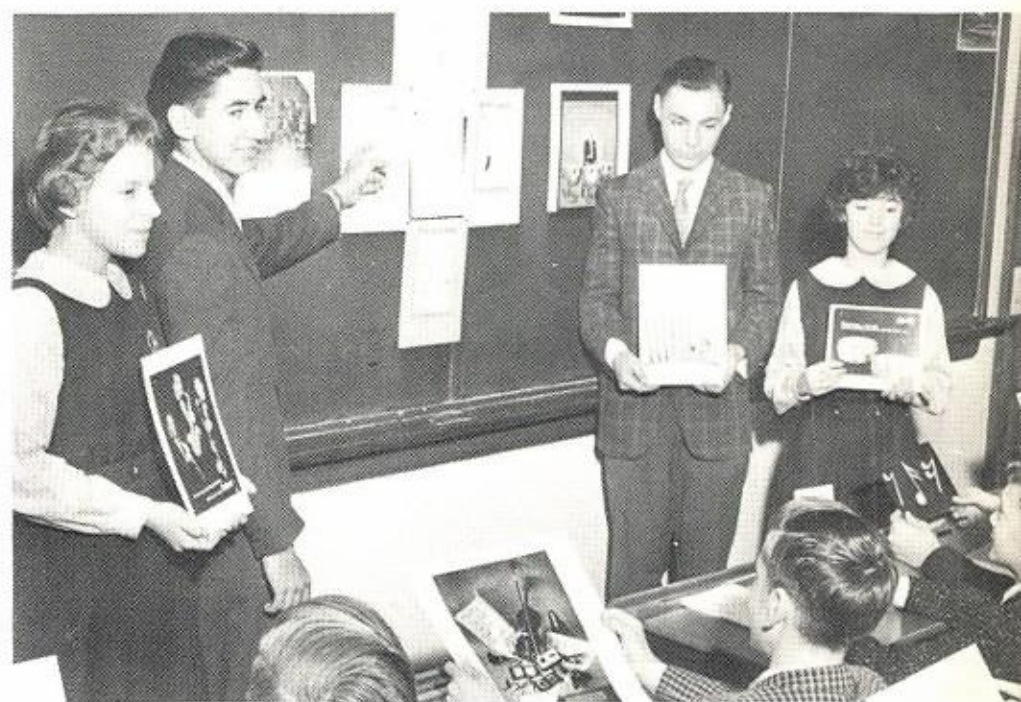

LAY FOUNDATION STONES.

William Seaman displays a poster to freshmen in Religion I class. Learning to work together in a Christian way is one of the many lessons to be learned from the practice of religious doctrine.

Carlos Diaz reminds students in Music I that the pictures they are examining illustrate "Symphony Orchestra Instruments." Marie Zarinsky, Anthony Altenbach, and Diane Ford exhibit some exceptions to this group.

Sister Regina Pacis listens to Martin Hildenberger and Fred Weiss read the parts of Scrooge and his nephew in "The Christmas Carol." Following the dialogue are Fred Capuano, Carlos Diaz, Carlos Gonzales, and Fred Butryn.

Brother Justus, O.S.F. (George D'Huy, '58) returns to his alma mater to tell seniors of the joy he has found in the religious life.

HERE AND THERE IN BECAHI

Holy Hour, Retreat—February 13, 14, 15. Father F. X. Barrett, Retreat Master.

Joseph Kucsan's flawless rendition of such lively tunes as "Accordion Boogie" and "Dizzy Fingers" entertained audiences during intermission at the senior play.

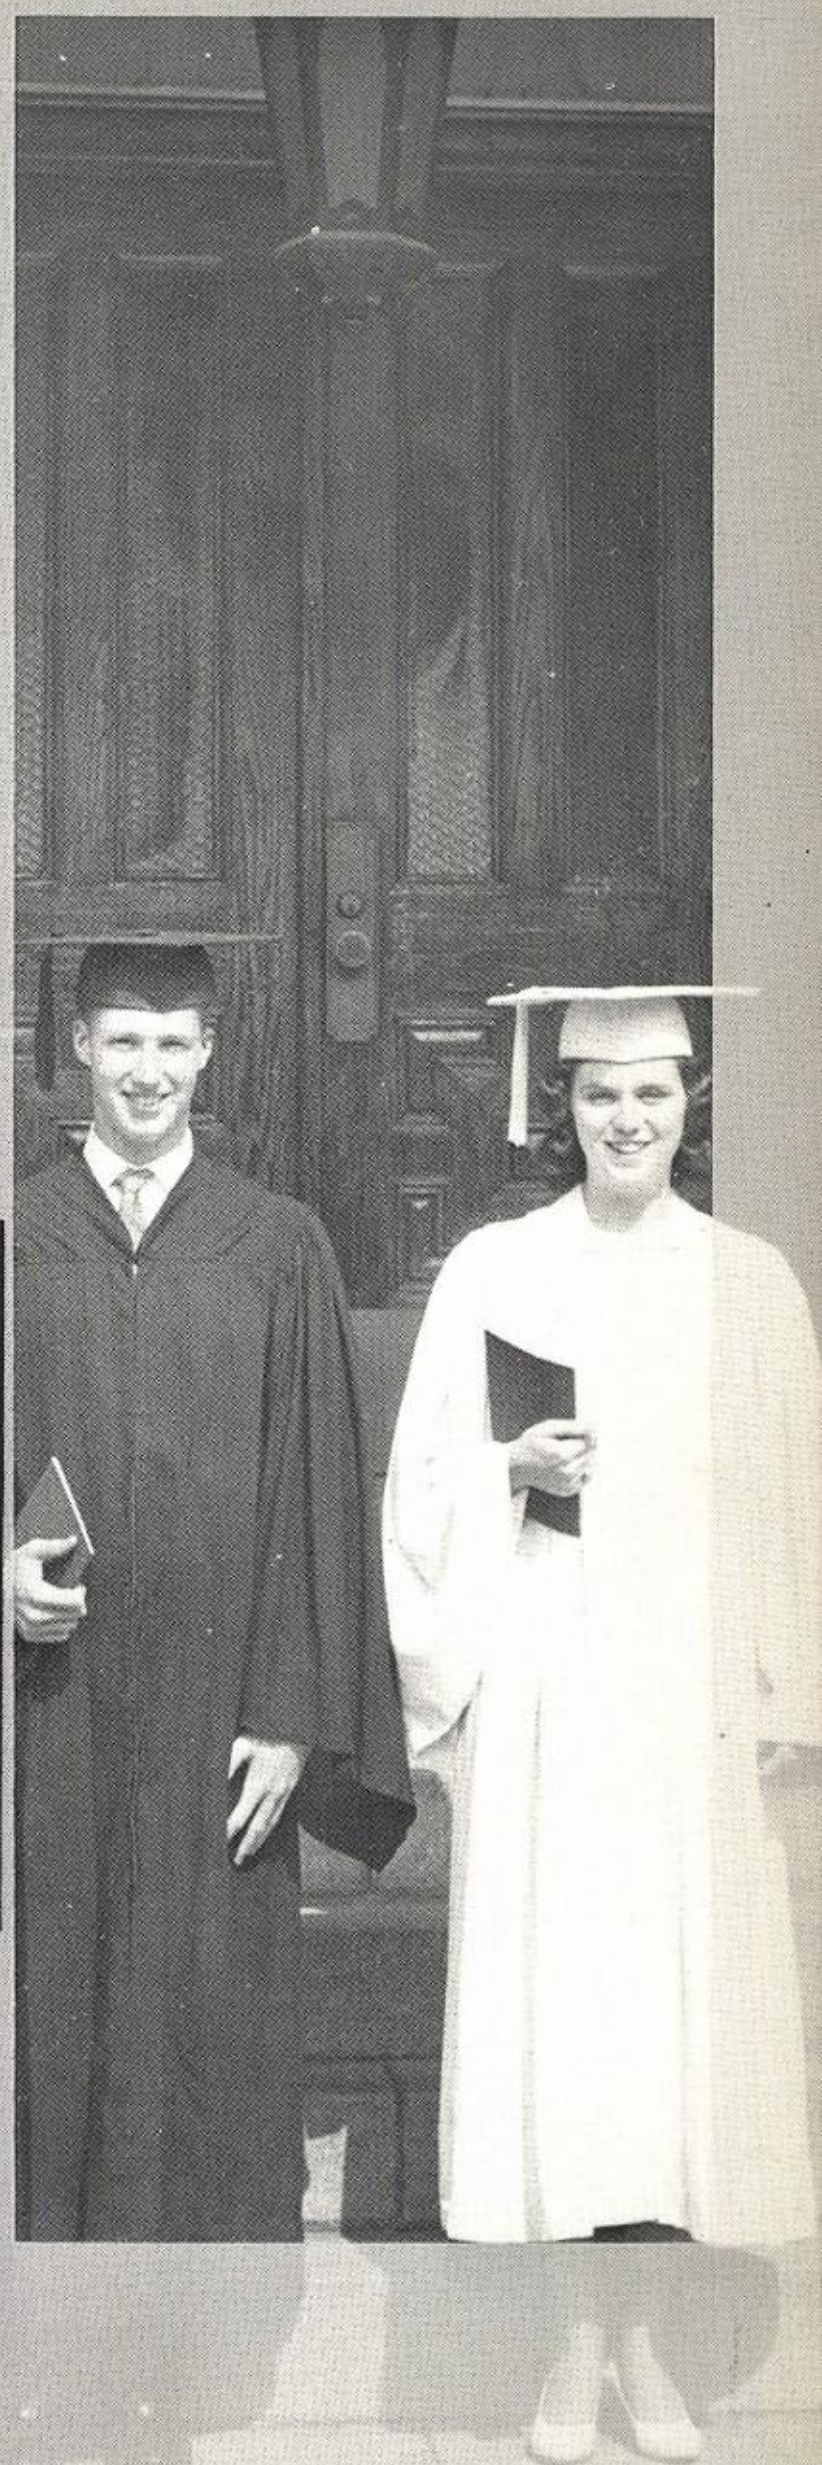

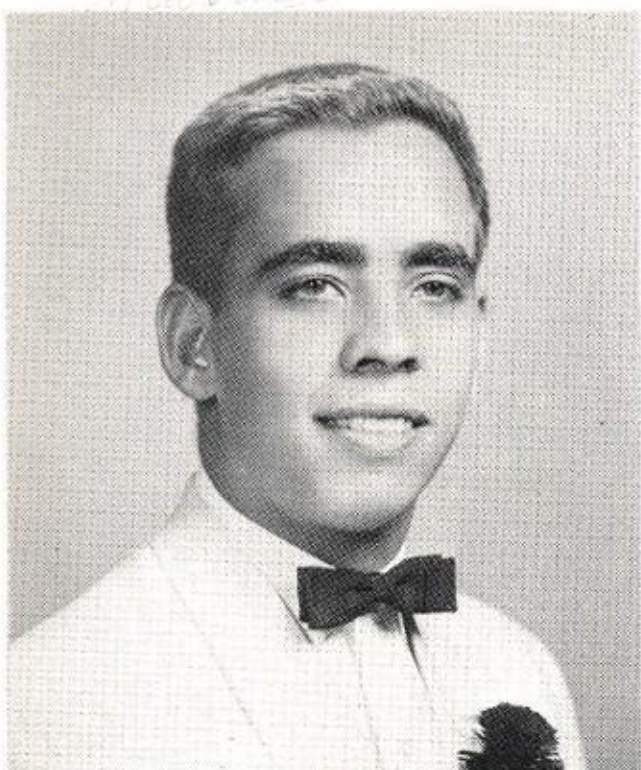

No matter how often Becahi's efficient secretary, Mrs. Young, (Theresa Horvath, '59) is interrupted in her duties, she greets everyone with a smile.

Theresa Nishnic, Margaret Pinter, and Cynthia Shields, leaders in the Catholic Standard and Times subscription drive, show how the thermometers rise as the subscriptions come in.

THE DIOCESE OF ALLENTOWN

During the enthronement rites in the Cathedral of St. Catharine of Siena, Allentown, April 11, 1961, Bishop Joseph McShea, together with his chaplains, Monsignor Scott A. Fasig and Monsignor Theodore C. Wagner, listens to the reading of the papal decrees announcing his appointment.

From the hands of His Excellency, Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, Apostolic Delegate to the United States, His Excellency, Bishop Joseph M. McShea receives the crozier, a symbol of his episcopal authority as the first Ordinary of the Diocese of Allentown.

During their senior year the class of 1961 noted a most important event in the growth of the Catholic Church—the erection of the Diocese of Allentown. As the first Bethlehem Catholic High School graduates in this new diocese take their places as young men and young women among the quarter of a million souls in Bishop McShea's flock, they go forth equipped with the glory of a Catholic education which will lead them to eternal life if they follow the principles and precepts they were taught.

With this significant event the SCEPTRE supplement begins memorabilia that occurred too late to be included in the text of the 1961 SCEPTRE.

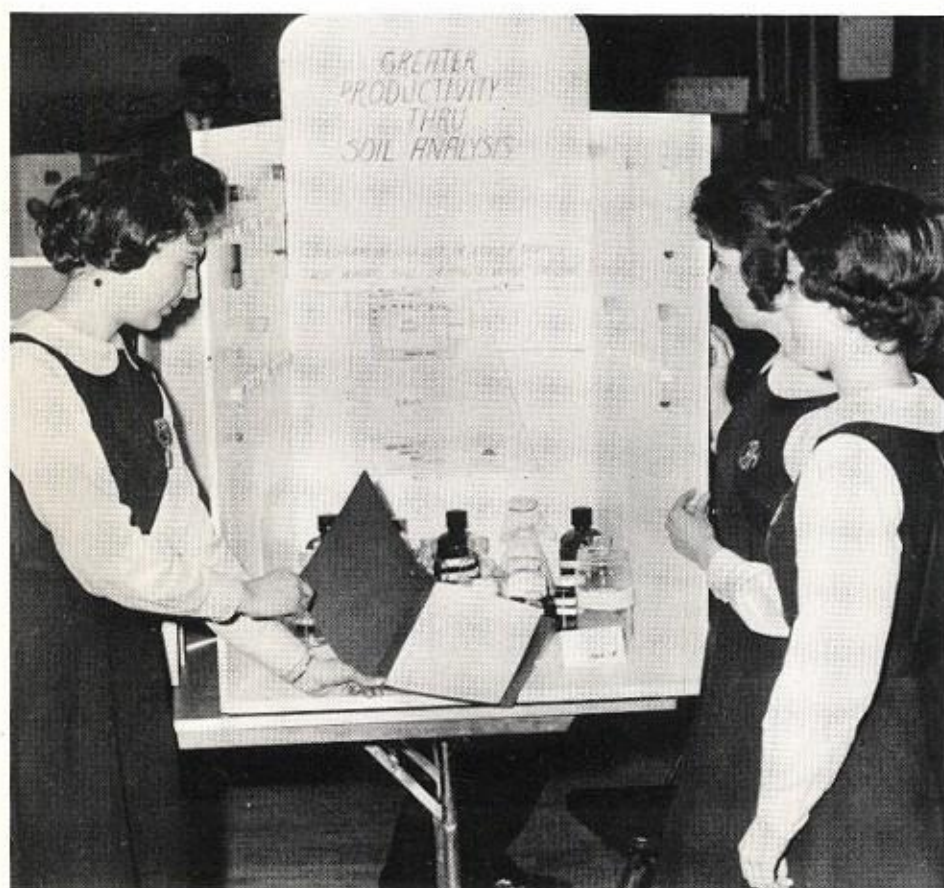

Priests take their places in the Cathedral of St. Catharine of Siena for the installation of Bishop McShea. Reverend F. V. Gilly; Reverend J. V. Sangmeister, Principal of Bethlehem Catholic High School; Reverend J. J. Fricker; Reverend A. J. Schmid.

SCIENCE FAIR

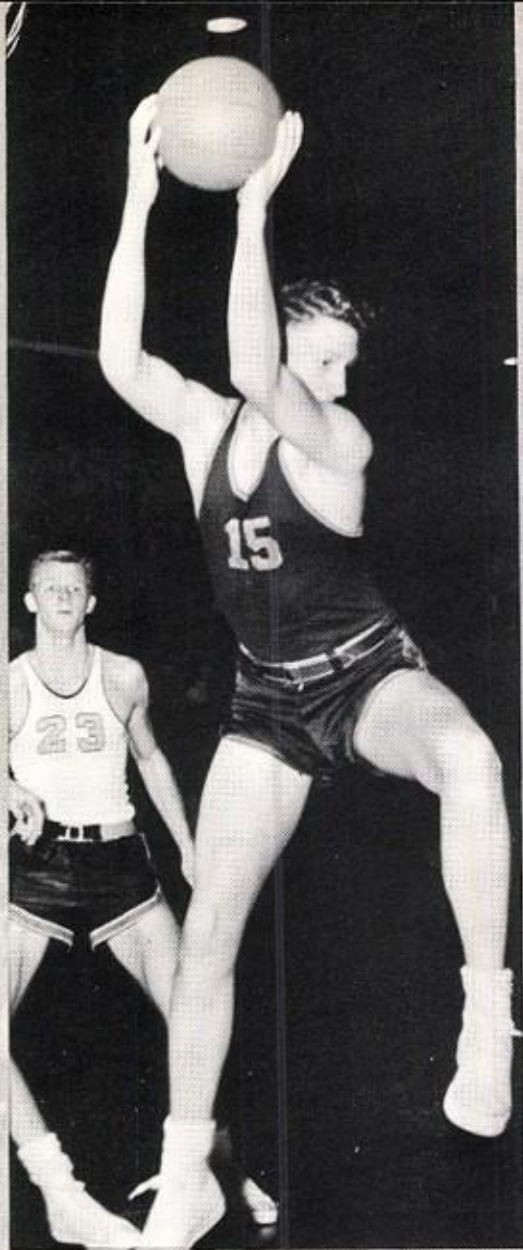

One hundred twenty-five students displayed interesting entries in the annual Science Fair held in the school auditorium. From these twelve were submitted to the Lehigh Valley Science Fair held at Muhlenberg College early in April.

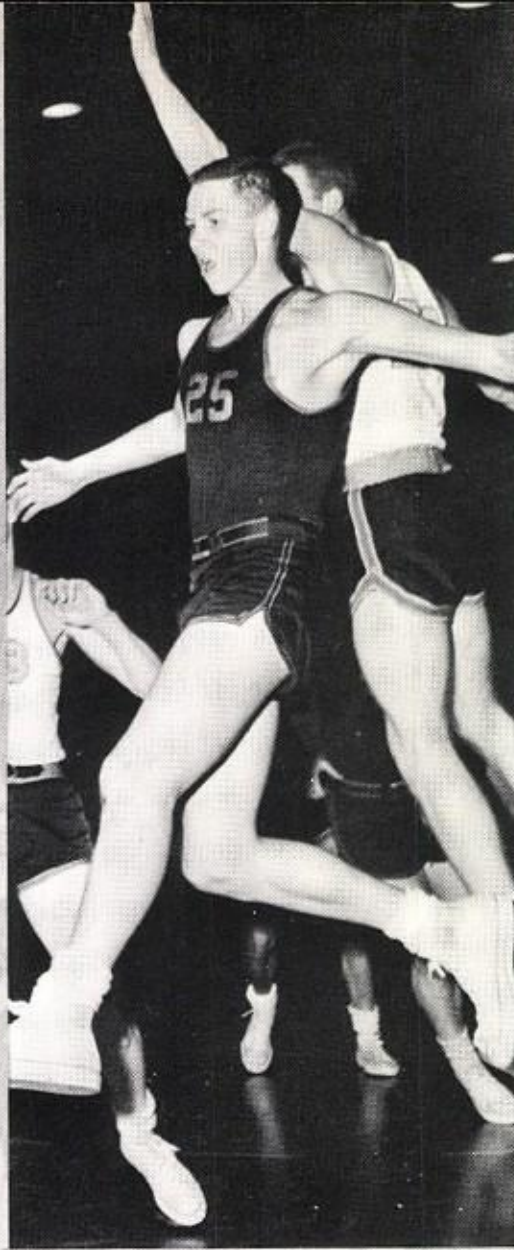

Marsha Brooks and Patricia Bartakovits listen to Carolann Danko's explanation that "Greater Productivity Through Soil Analysis" can be obtained. Carolann received honorable mention for her project at the Lehigh Valley Science Fair.

Orlando Diaz spent many hours preparing his exhibit, "Effects of Gibberellic Acid on Plants." George Yellak and Mary Nolan admire the results of Orlando's work.

Barry Casey (15) comes down with a precious rebound in the contest with Bishop Kenrick which cost the Golden Hawks the Philadelphia Suburban Catholic League title by one point.

In the same game Fran Fenerty (25) makes a desperate attempt to regain the ball from the Bishop Kenrick defenders in an effort to boost a score which ended tragically for Becahi, 58-57.

Although closely guarded by South Scranton defenders, "Muggs" McGeehan contributes two more points to Bethlehem Catholic's score which stood at 47-44 at the end of the game. Despite McGeehan's spectacular playing and high scoring, the Golden Hawks lost the Class "B" Eastern title with this defeat and reluctantly relinquished the State Championship they had won in 1960.

JAYONKARA SERENADE

Patricia Kovacs and William Dwyer, '60, greet Sister Macrina.

◁ Before going to the senior-junior prom May 19, 1961 many students stop to see the Sisters, to introduce their companions, and, of course, "show off" their gowns and corsages. Honorine Higgins' infectious giggles bring smiles to all.

Decorated to follow an oriental theme Becahi's auditorium seems like another world to hearts that are young and gay.

Andrea Garza with her escort, Fred Bambu, makes a regal entrance through the bamboo curtain. Between them can be seen William Dwyer of the class of '60.

Father Sangmeister and Father Cronin exchange pleasantries with Ronald Makowsky, '60, and Stella Zondlo.

Proud parents, who acted as chaperons for the prom, pose on the convent stairs. (From top) Mrs. and Mr. Charles Terry II, Mrs. and Mr. Charles Kropp, Sr., Mrs. and Mr. Stephen Majczan.

BACCALAUREATE

Frances Gobs, Marie Toth, and Dorothy Trescak, together with their fellow classmates, listen seriously to Father F. X. Barrett's Baccalaureate address.

Graduates march from school to Holy Infancy Church to attend Baccalaureate Mass.

Songs with a Civil War theme filled Becahi's auditorium with beautiful music and brought delight to all who attended Commencement exercises.

◁ Holy Infancy Church forms a solemn and beautiful setting for the celebration of Baccalaureate Mass by Reverend Joseph V. Sangmeister, Principal of Bethlehem Catholic High School.

No tears for Frances Gobs as she adjusts Nancy DiConcetto's cap. Carol Alcorn, peering over Nancy's shoulder, looks happy too, but Angeline Albarelli's sad expression had many duplicates on Commencement night.

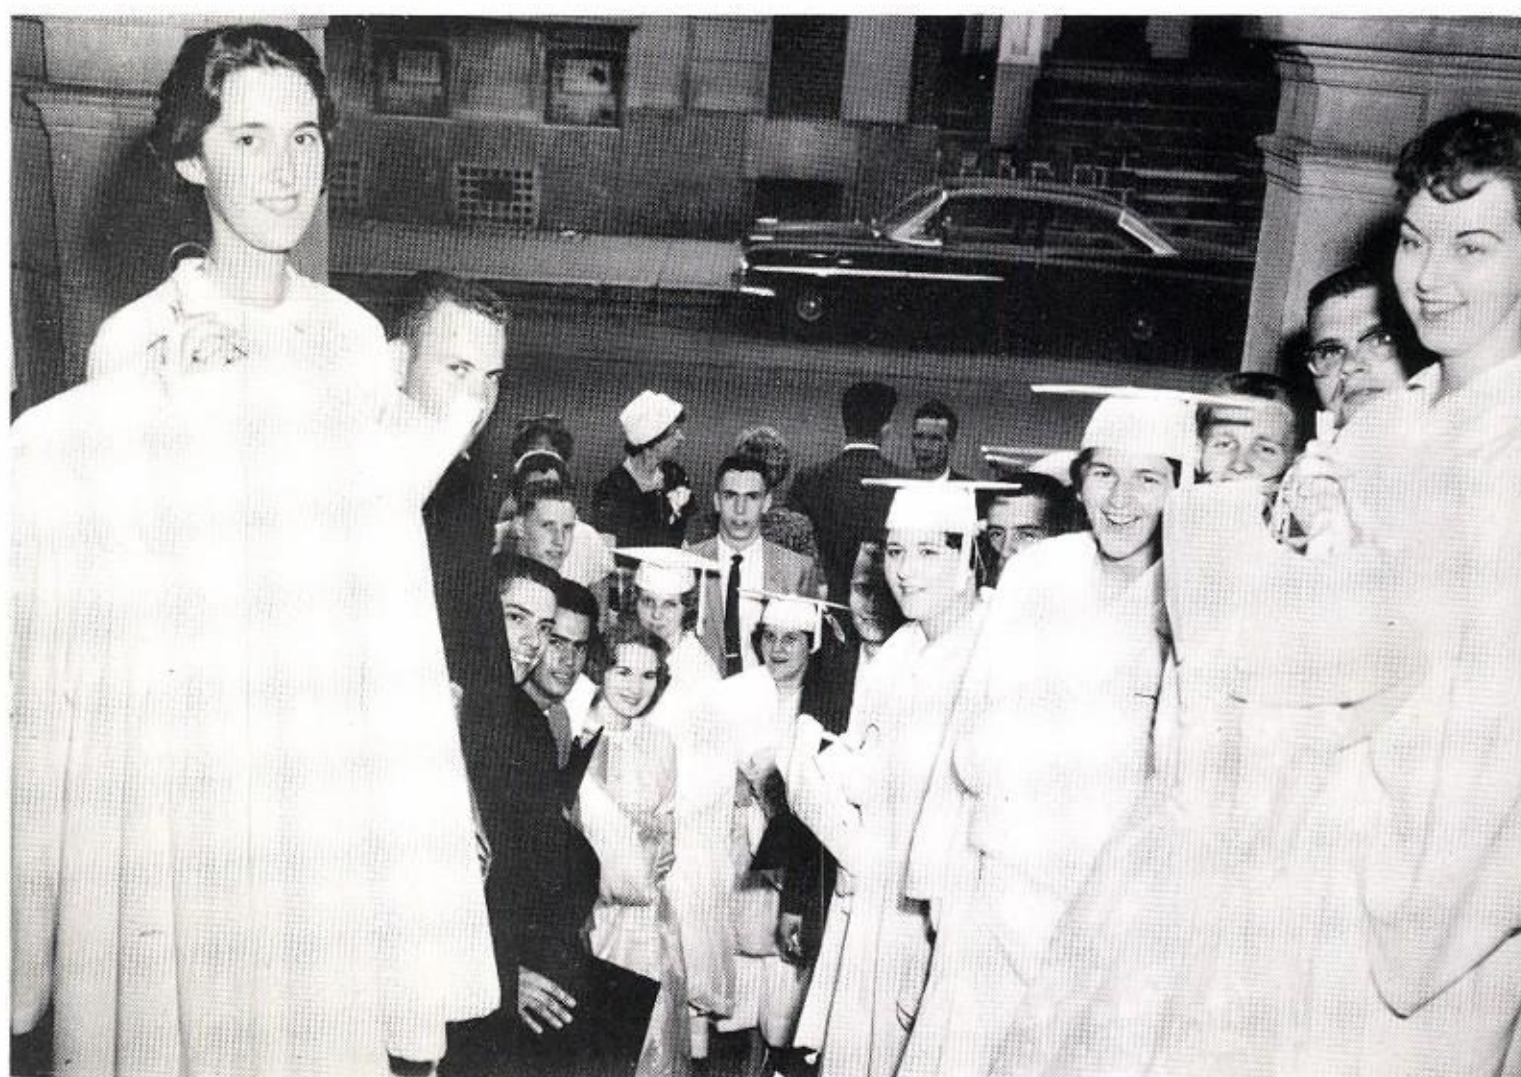

Michael Joseph Chaback, Valedictorian, National Merit Scholar.

and COMMENCEMENT

Say "Farewell!" in any language—Sbogomni, Tsai Chien, Sbobem, Far val, Vaarwel, Hyvasti, Auf Wiedersehen, Geia sou, Sholom, Isten vele, Arrivederci, Slon Lib, Valet, Ar Dievu, Do widzenia, Adeus, La revidere, Do svidanya, Z Bogom, Dobry Den, Adios, Adjo, Szbogon, Adieu, or even Sayonara—it is still "Farewell!" "Sweet sorrow" Shakespeare called the bittersweet experience of parting. Although graduates leaving Bethlehem Catholic High School know they will see one another from time to time, they know also that the camaraderie of high school days will be gone. When they meet again, happy memories of four years will help to bind them together with ties of their beloved Alma Mater.

FAREWELL!

How far away seems graduation day when school reopens in September! Carol Cofenas, Dorothy Trescak, and Angeline Albarelli drop in to chat with Sister Agnes Consilli and to exult over the wonderful feeling of being a senior at last and to glory in the anticipation of being a graduate of Bethlehem Catholic High School in June.
